Annex A: Project Description

Project Title: Stories of Home

Date: 8 May 2021

Locations: Mornington Peninsula Regional Gallery, Mornington, Victoria and the Truganina Explosives Reserve Homestead, Hobson's Bay
Organiser: Kate Gorringer-Smith
Co-creators: Jackie Kerin (storyteller), Dr Rea Dennis (Assoc. Prof. Art & Performance, Deakin University) and Magda Miranda Arnone (Performing artist and dancer). Dr Rea Dennis and Magda Miranda Arnone are participants in the Overwintering Project: Westernport exhibition, and Jackie Kerin has a long association with migratory shorebirds and World Migratory Bird Day.
Target participants: 12-20 members of the local youth communities (aged 14-18) with migrant or Indigenous backgrounds
Audience: 160 (live) plus virtual audience. The physical audience in the Gallery is limited to 80, due to Covid regulations. The Hobson's Bay performance will be held outside, and so the potential audience could be the same or larger. The Performances will be recorded on video to allow for sharing and reaching a greater audience.
Event description: Stories of Home is proposed as twin performance events to be part of the World Migratory Bird Day activities taking place at the Mornington Peninsula Regional Gallery, Mornington, Victoria and the Hobson's Bay Wetland Centre, Altona, Victoria on May 8 2021. Overwintering Project Co-ordinator Kate Gorringer-Smith, with the performance expertise of Jackie Kerin (storyteller), Dr Rea Dennis (Assoc. Prof. Art & Performance, Deakin University) and Magda Miranda Arnone (Performing artist and dancer), will engage with local youth (aged 14-18) from the two communities who have migrant or Indigenous backgrounds to create short, personal performance pieces (a story or poem), using migratory shorebirds as a metaphor for human migration. The Mornington performance will occur in the Mornington Peninsula Regional Gallery space where there is the Overwintering Project: Western Port is currently being exhibited. The exhibition focuses on the Western Port Ramsar site and the unique biodiversity of the area. The Hobson's Bay performance will take place in the temporary home of the Hobson's Bay Wetland Centre, the Truganina Homestead. By targeting young people who are not necessarily already engaged with the birds of the Flyway and the activities of World Migratory Bird Day and linking their personal experiences with the birds' annual migrations, we hope to create a personal bond and interest between the participants and their communities and their local migratory birds and their habitat. Migratory birds offer the perfect metaphor for human migration as they are compelled by their biology to travel annually between two 'homes' – their breeding and non-breeding grounds. Their lives provide a metaphor free from political association or judgement, framing the phenomenon of migration as a global necessity shared by humans and animals – the desire to find safe haven. Through this activity we hope to bring a new audience to World Migratory Bird Day, engaging local youth and their friends, families and school communities. The activity aims to give a voice and build confidence in the group of young participants while also engaging a diverse audience who may not otherwise consider participating in a World Migratory Bird Day Event.
